1   Compiling and Using

Rather then compile, included within the folder is an executable of the homework. This should be able to run on the windows environment without any hassle. Otherwise it would be recomended to use g++, mingw g++ for windows, to compile the program and run it

2   Group Members

Chad and Colton both did adequete amounts of work on the source code for full credit to be recomended for both. Both had worked on the single file with different functions and function definitions.
